DRUMMERS, ARE YOU READY?

Ed Shaughnessy is perhaps best known for his 25 year tenure as drummer for Doc Severinsen's "Tonight Show" big band. He has recorded more than 500 albums with such jazz legends as Charlie Parker, Count Basie, Benny Goodman, and Clark Terry. In addition to his professional playing activities, Mr. Shaughnessy has inspired thousands of young musicians through his work as a dedicated teacher and clinician.

Clem DeRosa's career as a professional musician, educator, arranger, composer, and orchestra leader spans 50 years. Through the years he has recorded and/or performed with Charlie Mingus, Marian McPartland, Teo Macero, Teddy Wilson, Thad Jones, Ben Webster, Clark Terry, Phil Woods, Coleman Hawkins, John LaPorta, Kenyon Hopkins, Bobby Hackett, and more. Mr. DeRosa also became deeply involved in music education as one of the leading pioneers of jazz education.
